The first step towards repudiation was taken by the house a day or two since by for the construction of the Prescott & Acizona Central railway. The bill, as passed and waich is now in the hands of the council, repeals all portions of the law providing for issuing the bonds on the unconstructed portion of the road, Should this bill pass and become a law, it will certainly have the effect of depreciating Arizona securities on the market as the bonds on the completed portion of the road have been negotiated on the strength of building the entire line, as contemplated in the law. If it had only been desired to have a road constructed to Prescott it should have been so stated in the act. To come in now at this late, day and attempt to violate a contract after a portion of it has been fulfilled by the railroad company, and as we understand, the material contracted for, for the remainder of the road, savors too much of repudiation to strengthen the credit of our territory. The bill should be deexted in the council.

ED. JOURNAL-MINER : Our New Jersey governor has finally shown his hand, although he claims not to have anything to do with legislation. It comes from a good democrat that he exhibited a check yesterday for five hundred dollars, which was offered by the member from Yuma in the council, Isaac by name, as a bet that the till dividing Maricopa courty would pass both houses. The member from Yuma, Mr. Lyons, declined to bet when he was tackled by a gertleman from Maricopa with the money, showing that it was a big bluff on the part of the instigators of the bill to take from Mari copa county so much of her valuable territory.
